I appreciate that the UK being so large that not everyone can get to all meets. If you know of a few of you getting together and don't mind other Seahawk fans joining you, then e-mail me the details and I will let our fan base know.

Competition Time

Thank you to all of you who entered our competition for this year. We have had loads of guesses with 42% more entries than last year.

The question was: How many sacks will Seattle achieve in the regular season?

We have had a wide range of answers from the conservative lowest guess of 26, to the highest hopeful guess of 81.

Tally so far:	Vs Bills	1 Sack
	Vs 49ers	8 Sacks
	Vs Rams	1 Sack	Total: 10

I will regularly keep you updated during the season.

Trip to Seattle – Motherland III

Chip (husband), Jagster (brother) and I have just met 4 other UK Booster Club members out in Seattle for the Rams game. This was a weekend organised by SeahawkBlue, who arranged golf, a party, tailgate, tickets for the game and loads of beer.

I enclose three of my favourite pictures from the weekend

Left to right:
Brithawk,
St.Seahawk, Pops, Chip (in front of 2
Seagals), Downhill DV(in the middle of 2 Seagals),

Jagster

and US SeaGal

Jagster at the tailgate party.

We took loads of photos, if you would like to view them, please use the link below:

If that doesn't give you a taster for Seattle and Qwest Field, then nothing will.

Let me have any photos that you get if you see the Hawks, this also applies to photos from Wembley.

Talking of Wembley...

See you there. I'm not a Philip Rivers fan so I will be cheering on the Saints. Mostly I want it to be a much better game than last year.

Love Pops
